

CATHOLIC SCHOOL

TAKE ANOTHER LOOK

Currently, there are 981 eighth grade students enrolled in the 37 archdiocesan Catholic schools. In June of 2005, 53% of 8th graders in Catholic elementary schools enrolled at Catholic secondary schools.

Recently, a group of 8th graders shared their views on the value of a Catholic education.

“I realized how important my faith was to me, and how I wanted to go to a school where I could participate in my faith without being mocked or laughed at for what I do. I also realized I wanted to have morning prayer, and I wanted to be able to go to a school that has Mass during school hours. Then I knew that the Catholic school was where I belonged.”

“There is no better way to put Jesus Christ in our lives every day, but through education.”

“My parents often tell me that the value of knowing God has no price tag. My school has provided me with a unique opportunity to develop my relationship with God while being well educated. Knowing God in our lives is a huge part of what it means to receive a Catholic education.”

The Archdiocese of Denver’s Catholic Schools are an investment in the future of our children and our Catholic faith.
