Who will benefit from the Catholic School Voucher Program?

“I want my son to attend a Catholic school so he can be immersed in a Catholic environment, learn to pray, receive the sacraments, and learn the Catholic faith. In addition, I want him to learn to think, study, and learn through the Catholic school’s excellent curriculum.” – Catholic School Voucher Recipient

250 students new to Archdiocese of Denver Catholic schools have been approved to take a $3,000 voucher to a participating Catholic elementary or archdiocesan high school of their choice and enroll for the 2006-2007 school year.

Seeds of Hope Charitable Trust is funding the voucher program for students whose families meet economic need guidelines. Within one week of the public announcement of the Catholic School Voucher Program (CSVP), all the vouchers had been issued and additional applicants’ names added to a waiting list.

Additional applicants are encouraged as further funding is being sought. For application information or to become a CSVP Donor, contact Seeds of Hope at (303) 715-3127.

The Archdiocese of Denver’s Catholic Schools are an investment in the future of our children and our Catholic faith.
