

CATHOLIC SCHOOL

TAKE ANOTHER LOOK

National Catholic Schools Week January 28 – February 2, 2007

National Catholic Schools Week (CSW) is a celebration that takes place across the United States to honor the history, traditions, and mission of Catholic Schools. The Archdiocese of Denver Catholic Schools participates in Catholic Schools Week and celebrates the unsurpassed academic achievement, along with the reinforcement of Catholic faith and formation that provides our students with a solid foundation for personal success. Events held at the local school level focus on students, parents, parish and school communities, vocations, national issues, faculty, staff, and volunteers and highlights the reasons parents believe in Catholic education:

- Catholic faith formation
- Nurturing community
- Reinforce family environment
- Rigorous academic curriculum

We are proud and honored to belong to the National Catholic Education system comprised of 7,589 schools serving 2,363,220 students receiving a Catholic education. 43.2% of all Catholic schools nation-wide are located in urban and inner city areas, despite population losses and great financial difficulties in maintaining them. This number continues to demonstrate the commitment of the Catholic Church to education.

The Archdiocese of Denver's Catholic Schools are an investment in the future of our children and our Catholic faith.
